Everyone raising children has a unique set of challenges to face, but others have been through it. How'd you like to learn from their experience? That's what the Parent Café is for.

Parent Cafés are structured, small-group conversations that promote peer-to-peer learning and deep self-reflection. Cafés have three rounds of hosted small-group conversations. Sessions last about two hours. If you come early, you and your children can share a meal together. At the Parent Café, you will

- learn from the wisdom of a group with similar challenges (and joys) you face.
- find the encouragement to connect through relevant and reflective conversation.
- not be offered advice but you will find solutions from within your group.
- meet new people and make new friends.

If you attend all three sessions, you can receive $50.

Seating is limited, so reserve your space today!

Parents, grandparents, foster parents, new parents, experienced parents ... anyone raising children, needs support or companionship and someone to talk to. All are welcome.
