

*There is a longing in my heart
for you to reveal yourself to me.*

*There is a longing in my heart
for love I only find in you, O God.*

If you have felt this longing in your heart -- or if you're missing that longing -- a personal directed retreat maybe an opportunity God is offering you.

A silent directed retreat offers conversation with God and with the retreat director who helps you listen to God.

The reason for such a special retreat is to intentionally set aside quality time for you and God to be together and to grow more deeply in your relationship with God.

It is a time to have someone help you notice the movements of God in your heart.

It is a time to get in touch with your feelings, your thoughts and your actions -- both in prayer and during the rest of your day.
